

Encore! (a manager reunion)

May 14-15, 2020 in Portland, OR

Overview

Attendees left So Now You're a Manager cohorts with perspective, new skills and a purpose in their step. But, as they soon found out, you can't cover everything about authority and human relationships in two days. Encore! is a reunion, of sorts, for all SNYAM alumni. Jen will teach workshops, select alumni will give talks based on their management experiences and we will gather to learn, to unwind and to come together again as another version of the community you met the first time around.

Location: McMenemy's Kennedy School in Portland, OR

Dates: Thursday, May 14 - Friday, May 15 (plus optional Wednesday pm drinks)

Cost: $699 early bird before 1/31/20

Agenda:

- The Anatomy of Power
- Swimming Upstream: the art of managing up
- Supporting Underperformers
- Surprise activities
- Peer-led talks & workshops (topics include remote management, making hiring practices more inclusive, processing a rapid-growth organization, using coaching in your management practice, etc.)
- Breakfast, lunch, snacks happily provided

Questions?

Tell your boss to email Jen: jen@beplucky.com. Happy to talk out the value with anyone.

What Attendees Loved about SNYAM

“Working together and hearing others' thoughts and experiences lead to a greater sense of you're-not-alone. Thank you so much for that.”

“For me, the best part of SNYAM was seeing 20-ish other folks who were committed to being the best managers possible. I heard people set intentions and commit to showing up differently for their directs. So often people complain about their managers not caring about them, not working to develop them, etc. I simply do not think that will be true about anyone in my cohort. SNYAM provided us with so many tools to help us live out our goal of being excellent managers, and I have a team of people helping to hold me accountable.”

“Three weeks after my experience, I continue to be ever-thankful for the time and space I had to reflect on my managerial role and practice new ways of approaching it. The continual support of my cohort and Jen makes the value extend far beyond the two day experience!”

