

SO NOW YOU'RE A MANAGER

OVERVIEW

So Now You're a Manager is a training for managers and emerging leaders. Taught by leadership coach Jen Dary, this training provides new managers with techniques and actionable skills to accelerate careers in management. The intention is to help managers see themselves as leaders, and facilitate successful, collaborative working environments when they get back to work.

AGENDA

Day 1:

- Success as a manager (definition & matrix)
- Trust and opportunity building
- Delegation
- Managing up

Day 2:

- Learning to listen
- Hiring and retention
- Getting through creator grief
- Designing teams
- Practicing 1:1s

Day 3:

- Giving and receiving feedback
- Practicing hard conversations
- Self care
- Fostering career paths
- Leadership definition and mission statements

PREVIOUS ATTENDEES

Previous SNYAM attendees have come from a variety of industries, including:

TECHNOLOGY

MEDIA

HEALTHCARE

EDUCATION

NONPROFITS

WORKING WITH PLUCKY

Jen is so talented at understanding the challenges managers face and creating an environment where those challenges can be discussed and collective solutions formed."

I wish SNYAM was a thing when I first moved into leadership. This was an amazing bootcamp to send any new & newish manager to, to learn the fundamentals of leadership. This is the REAL human stuff, not the good-on-paper stuff you read about in management books that you'll never actually implement."

Jen's training will help any manager reinvigorate their role to be a better, more confident leader of their team. The activities and discussions remind managers that there are many ways to look at a situation and that part of your job as a manager is to have the capacity to take on a different perspective when necessary."

@beplucky
www.beplucky.com/manager

